Tiny Tot Is Sole Witness of Mother's Brutal Slaying in L. A. Apartment

OS ANGELES, Sept. 20.— An ornate jumping jack was today added to the scientific crime detection apparatus of the police homicide squad, when three great, burly detectives dangled gew-gaws before the eyes of 2-year-old Emily Cass, counted the little pigs that went to market on her toes, and tried to elicit from her baby lips the story of the murder of the possible mother, Mrs. James W. Cass, beautiful cabaret entertainer, formerly of Buffalo, N. Y., found dead and covered with blood in her apartment in

Dollar's Buying Power Now Only Worth 65 Cents

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.

—The purchasing power of the American dollar now amounts to only 65 cents, the department of labor announced today in making public the results of a ten-year survey of the dollar's varying course.

The survey is based upon the fluctuations of the dollar's power from 1913 to 1923, and shows that at times the dollar has been able to purchase only 40 cents worth of American markets.

In 1922, the Pacific-Southwest produced 56% of the total orange crop, and 98% of the total lemon crop of the United States, at a total combined value of $70,000,000.

Of these crops, 73% were handled by the California Fruit Growers Exchange, the industry's cooperative marketing organization. Prior to this organization citrus growing was a hazardous enterprise, but since 1885, when the growers organized a body which later became the Exchange, the industry has been on a stable basis.

As cooperation in marketing has made for the success of this industry, so cooperation between banks under the Pacific-Southwest inter-community system has made possible a broader, more comprehensive financial service for this entire territory.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Although George H. Ruth, the well-

prominent part, as always, the impending victory of the New York Yanks in the 1923 pennant race is really a personal triumph for Miller Huggins, and those who have been demanding his official head

Equals Best of 'Em

As a matter of fact, Huggins is just about to do something that only one other American league manager succeeded in doing. In a day or so, at the most, he will have jockeyed the Yanks into their third successive pennant. Hughey Jennings won three in a row with the Tigers, from 1907 to 1909, but the same stunt was a bit beyond Connie Mack after the Athletics had won in 1910 and 1911, and again in 1913 and 1914, and Bill

Carrigan, whose Red Sox won in 1915 and 1916. It is slightly more than a debatable point whether the present Yankees form

Hot Weather In San Francisco? Not In Fog Bank

M. and Mrs. Harley G. Preston of 312 West Colorado street re-turned Wednesday from a motor trip to Berkeley, Oakland and San Francisco, having left the university city the day before the fire. While motoring through Gilroy on their northbound trip last weekend, Mr.

Preston, who is a well-known local realtor, shed his coat, collar and necktie and rolled up his sleeves. Entering San Francisco, they encountered a fog bank which caused him to unroll the sleeves, hastily get into his coat and overcoat and turn up the collar. A regu-lar gale was blowing. Mrs. Preston enjoyed the performance, almost as much as the day her husband had a yellowjacket sting him six times. And she continued to

EXPERT EXPLAINS TORRENS SYSTEM

Glendale Realtors Hear Talk On Method of Handling Title Transfers

The advantages of the Torrens title system of handling real es-tate transactions were explained in detail to the members of the Glendale Realty Board at their weekly luncheon in Jensen's Egyptian Village, yesterday, by James W. Bell, president of the State Torrens Title Company of Los Angeles, who declared that, under this system, an escrow can be cleared inside twenty-four hours, as contrasted with the period of anywhere from thirty to ninety days, which he claimed is needed under the methods in vogue under the operation of other title companies.

After giving a brief resume of the history of the Torrens law since its first passage by the California legislature in 1897 and its subsequent passage as an initiative measure in 1914, Mr. Bell declared that the Torrens law has withstood all the attacks that have been made on it by those who, he claimed, are interested in seeing it fail of its purpose, adding that the opposition to the law is gradually diminishing as those opposed to it fail to find any weak spots in it. This is especially true in Glendale, he asserted, where there is more property under the Torrens law than in many other localities of this size in California. Tells Procedure

The course that is pursued by the superior courts of the county in which property lies to which a Torrens title is sought was described by Mr. Bell, who stated that, after judgment has been granted, the certificate of title is issued direct from the office of ferring property after a Torrens title has been secured is confined to the recording fee, Mr. Bell said.

Mr. Bell stated that he hopes to open a Torrens title office in Glendale in the near future, and a part of the plans that he is now working on consists of raising the fund required by the state to permit his ple's Hospital in Chicago, takes organization to issue a guarantee an active part in the affairs of the of title, which, he claims, he could do for $10.

Many of the members of the Glendale Realty Board submitted to Mr. Bell questions bearing directly on problems that they have encountered in handling deals through their own offices, and in each case Mr. Bell was able to anappeared to satisfy the question-

No good housewife would ever consent to trust her family's food to an ordinary "cooler," at any time of the year, if she realized how rapidly germs thrive and multiply in food when the temperature gets warmer than 50 degrees.

In milk, for instance, untold millions of tiny germs will be produced within an hour. These are not disease germs, but they do rob the milk of much of its nutritive value and help to cause weak, unhealthy babies. They are present long before the milk has actually spoiled.

The only safe place to keep food is in a refrigerator that is supplied with ice regularly, so that it never loses its cold, even temperature. To protect your food and properly safeguard your family's health, you need ice all the year around.

Few are brave enough to look the facts in the face. Fewer still are going to admit they cannot stomach the gall of those individuals whose money alone talks.

The San Diego Union has what t calls "A Sermon" in a recent editorial comment, as follows: "The great trouble with sermons is not the fact that a sermon has a moral tagged onto the end of it, but that the matter preceding the moral is so often deadly dull. Here is a sermon that lacks that drawback-thus making the moral 'easy to take.' This particular sermon is not dull, because it was written in life and action, not by any prosy preacher or long-winded journalist.

"The sermon was written into the news by a young man giving the name of Bert J. McCloud, now traveling through the great open spaces of the Middle West upon the back of a pony that is, no doubt, worthy of a better companion.

Shawl Collar for Winter Coats Win

PARIS, Sept. 20 .- If there i any one thing that the Grands Couturiers have unanimously agreed upon it seems to be the shawl collar for winter coats.

Wherever one goes, from the chic houses on the Rue de la Paix to those at the top of Champs Elysees, the familiar shawl collar greets one like an old friend. It will be the favorite one for winter coats and evening wraps. For winter weather in Paris milady is only too glad to be muffled to the ears in warm fur or

Some of the shawl collars are of great width and very often twisted. Jean Patou started the vogue for the twisted roll last season and now everyone is using Lenief is showing a number of lovely evening capes with a twisted collar of softest gray fur rolled with the material. One comes in gold and pink lame and has pink crepe with the gray fur. Another is an old rose brocade.

White fur collars of the highstanding type are also much used by the fashionable dressmakers. A most unusual coat made entirely of the loops of waxed braid had only this touch of white at the neck. A handsome velvet cape in pale yellow has the same as well as a green velvet lined with black, which is one of the useful reversible "two-in-one" kind. This cape is particularly interesting because of the flares of silver-cloth inset at regular distances to match the ones on the silver gown which is ween bethe silver gown which is worn be Yvonne Davidson uses nothing but the high shawl collar on her smart suits which she makes for morning wear. One in soft tan cheviot has an inner lining of brown plaid which affords double warmth. A brown satin 3-piece costume has rich brown fur at the neck and bands running through the body of the three-quarter coat, which is one of the most welcome of all the new garments the designers have decided to give us this season. One sees them everywhere in cloth or satin trimmed with fur. It is equally becoming when left to fly in a graceful flare or wrapped lightly about the him.

FALL AND WINTER

Fashion has painted the cos tume picture for the fall of 1923 in autumnal colorings borrowed from the woods and roadsides, keying the tints in more subdued tones. Thus browns, russets, greens, orange and yellow of the forest mingle with rich crimson, the blue of asters and the bloom of peach skin, though designers have given other names to the shades selected by them for the latest style conceits in which ideas from China, Persia and the Far East are influential.

When you have such pieces mounted it is often quite possible to make an effective and decorative piece by using a teakwood stand for the base of the lamp However, great care must b taken that the stand is strong enough to stand the weight and prevent the lamp from being easily upset. It is usually better to spend a little more money, and have made a lead base lacquered black for one of the cheaper vases, or a gold-plated brass mounting for some treasured piece of Sevres or Royal Doulton. For shading purposes glass has long been used, although for some few years it has been rather unpopular because the manufacturers have not kept in step with the changing taste of our modern life. There have been, however, some very interesting models developed, which are now on the market, that are equally as attractive as anything among the silk shades. Softness of color and refinement in design are their characteristics.

Parchment paper is still used, especially for summer homes and sun porches or parlors. The new-est type is a shade made of papier mache. It has a hard, smooth surface, looks something like the glass shades in shape and design, but it will not crush and can be

Silk Lamp Shades There is nothing, however, so appropriate for a living room or bedroom as silk for shading. Color combinations can be made with greater variety. There is a softness about silk which cannot be surpassed. The home decorator will find that for general utility color combinations such as rose or mulberry, with putty, tan or gold will be most effective. Blues and greens, together with orchid, are good for trimmings. Yes, I am quite sure we are all perfectly willing to change our old lamps for new whenever we visit
